Ninth Edition

Published by
EARL A. LESTER
Port Huron, Michigan

F o r e w o r d

Since the last Directory was published there has been a 70% of change in addresses, jobs, marriages, deaths and moves in and out of the city. The need therefore for this issue is greater than at any time in the past.

The publisher wishes to thank the business men of Port Huron for their support in making this directory a success.

Do you know that only one city in nine will get new directories this year.

A Truth—and admitting our faults—we can still be proud of our town.

Respectfully yours,

EARL A. LESTER.

Nose-ology

Being an Essay on Noses

EARL LESTER, publisher of this directory, is a philosopher. He is a compendium of all knowledge. And one of his generalizations is that the Nose is an index of character and ability. He says that a man with a substantial proboscis is always a man of pull and push and power who can outwit, outclass, outpoint, outtalk, outwork and outblow all opposition.

Our own observations confirm this, the only exception we know of being Colonel Robert G. Ingersol who had a ridiculously small pug nose, and yet was capable of great accomplishments.

We suspect that Earl borrowed his idea from Napoleon who once said, "If you have an important mission to accomplish always send a man with a large, well-developed nose;" and it has frequently been remarked that every one of his marshals had a trumpet of very plentitudinous proportions.

Earl drops in on us occasionally to philosophize and one day he elaborated his thesis on noses. We caught on!

And from that day to this we have followed a system of nose selection; and now, behold! every worker in our nursery and every gardener in our service is the happy possessor of a good sizeable nose who knows his business.

This is an invitation for you to try our service and we guarantee to send you a man with a nose plus—one who knows enough to follow his nose wherever it goes; and by crackie, if he does not suit you, the old man, the writer of this screed, will go himself.

Like the beautiful girls who try out cigarettes, "His nose knows."
