HERALD PRINTING CO., PT. HURON, MICH.

Introduction used by C. Exera Brown, 1870,
Port Huron's First City Directory:

Dedication

To the Mayor, City Council, Board of Education, Press, patrons and Citizens of Port Huron, this Directory, the first of its kind here, is respectfully dedicated.

DULY appreciating the cordial welcome received at your hands, take a justifiable pride, in making an acknowledgement of your liberal support.

IN their approval and recommendations; to the City Council, to the Board of Education, for their interest and information given; to the Press for their frequent favorable notices, and kindly assistances, to the completion of the enterprise; to the patrons for their combined effort, and to the citizens for courtesies extended.

RESPONSES like these so cheerfully given, sustain the idea of a progressive people.

ENDEAVORING, the meanwhile, to build up an enviable reputation, trade, and commerce, for shrewd business men.

COULD we do more than recommend such to public favor? Could we say more in their behalf?

TO stop their advancement, would be useless and impossible, in this progressive nineteenth century.

ON then let us march, until all the arts and sciences are developed, and we glory in the day in which we live.

REFORM, renown, and reward, is a just compensation for our good work, and a lasting memorial for all time to come.

YOU must not then, be unmindful of the arduous duties involved in compiling a work of this character, as being perfect; but rather extend charity, making allowances for all imperfections, if any, which may have crept in upon us, unawares, while endeavoring to meet the expectations of all.

Hoping this honorable record may prove a valuable acquisition, return thanks and kindest regard for your welfare, until another two years hence, when we expect to renew this work.

History of Port Huron

By W. L. JENKS

If Port Huron were to follow the example of many older cities and express in its municipal seal an idea of the real or legendary origin of the City, the most appropriate design would be a clump of pine trees standing on the bank of a river, because far more than to any other reason, the beginning and development of Port Huron was due to the great quantity of fine white pine timber in St. Clair, Sanilac and Lapeer Counties, which could be easily floated down Black River and its tributaries.

It is true that as early as 1686 a French stockaded Fort was built within the present limits of Port Huron and commanded successively by two notable Frenchmen, Duluth and Labontan, but this Fort was abandoned within three years and had no permanent effect on the locality.

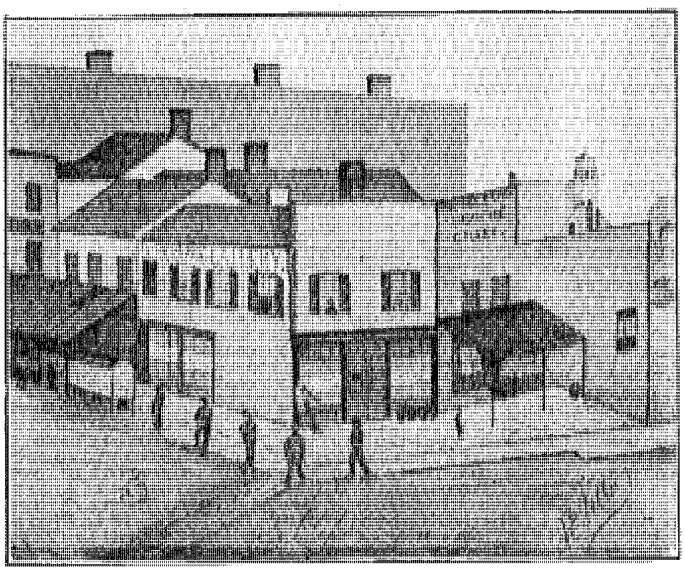

In the latter part of the 18th Century, a few Frenchmen settled along Black River, making a precarious livelihood by fishing and killing fur bearing animals. The United States Government built Fort Gratiot in 1814 and a few years later established the Military Reservation, extending from St. Clair River to Black River. In 1825, it built the first lighthouse near the present one, and, as by a treaty with the Indians in 1807 an Indian Reservation on the South side of Black River had been provided for, the general location would not have seemed very desirable for a city.

However the pine was plentiful and easily accessible; the soldiers at the Fort formed a nucleus of civilized life, and when the lighthouse was built in 1825, the first store within the present Port Huron—exclusive of the post trader at Fort Gratiot—was opened by James H. Cook for fur trading and general merchandise. This store was on the North side of Black River on what later became the Whiting Lumber Company property. About two years later Lewis Facer opened up the first hotel, also on the North side of Black River a short distance East of Huron Avenue.

At this time the government had begun the Military Road from Detroit to Fort Gratiot which was completed in 1833, and which is now known as Huron Avenue at the North End, Military Street, South of Black River, and farther South, the Gratiot Turnpike, and this was the first means of transportation by land between Detroit and this general locality.

In 1832, Mr. F. P. Browning, of Detroit, who had bought a lot of pine land along Black River, built on the North side of Black River, just West of the present Seventh Street bridge, the first steam saw mill in the State of Michigan, and also built a number of houses for his men, and to care for their religious and educational needs, he built in 1833, the schoolhouse, and the Black River Steam Mill Co., which succeeded to the property on the death of Mr. Browning, in 1834, built the first church in 1838.

With the advent of the steam mill and the building of the Gratiot Turnpike and the bridge across Black River, came the first indication of a future city. The first signs of that epidemic through New York and

New England, which later became known as the "Michigan Fever," began to appear and by 1835 was raging and bringing multitudes to Michigan to invest in Michigan land and lots. By that time a few more people had come in; Anselm Petit lived on the South side of Black River on what is now called Court street, East of Military. John Riley, a half breed Indian had a house within the Indian Reserve, about where the J. A. Davidson Company's store now stands.

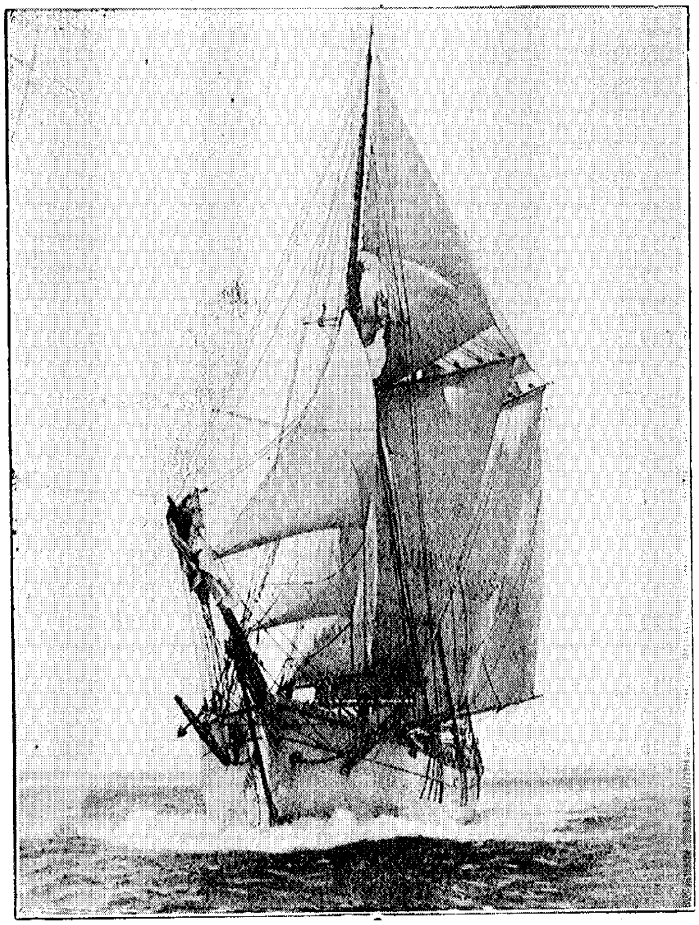

In 1835 Anselm Petit platted into lots the land he owned East of Fourth Street, North of Griswold Street and called it the Village of Peru, and in the same year Daniel B. Harrington, who had induced Fortune C. White of New York to furnish the capital with which to buy the land, platted the land North of Griswold Street and lying between Peru and the Indian Reserve, and called his plat the Village of Desmond. In 1837 John Thorn platted the land now known as Thorn's plat and called it the Village of Gratiot, and in the same year Charles Butler platted as the town of Port Huron Butler's Plat, and thus there were four different names, two on each side of Black River, for the one general locality. This inevitably led to trouble and confusion and in that same year the proprietors of the different plats got together, agreed upon the name of Port Huron for the entire community and obtained Court sanction for the act.

This name was taken from the lake near which the settlement was located, and probably the first part of the name, "Port," was used to emphasize the fact that the place was on navigable water, an important fact at that time as nearly all transportation was by water. Indeed, the steamers Gen. Gratiot and Red Jacket were plying regularly between Detroit and Black River when the name was selected.

During the same year the United States made a treaty with the Indians by which the Indian Reserve was abandoned and it was then surveyed, subdivided and in 1839 sold to individuals so that it then became available for settlement.

Port Huron Golf and Country Club

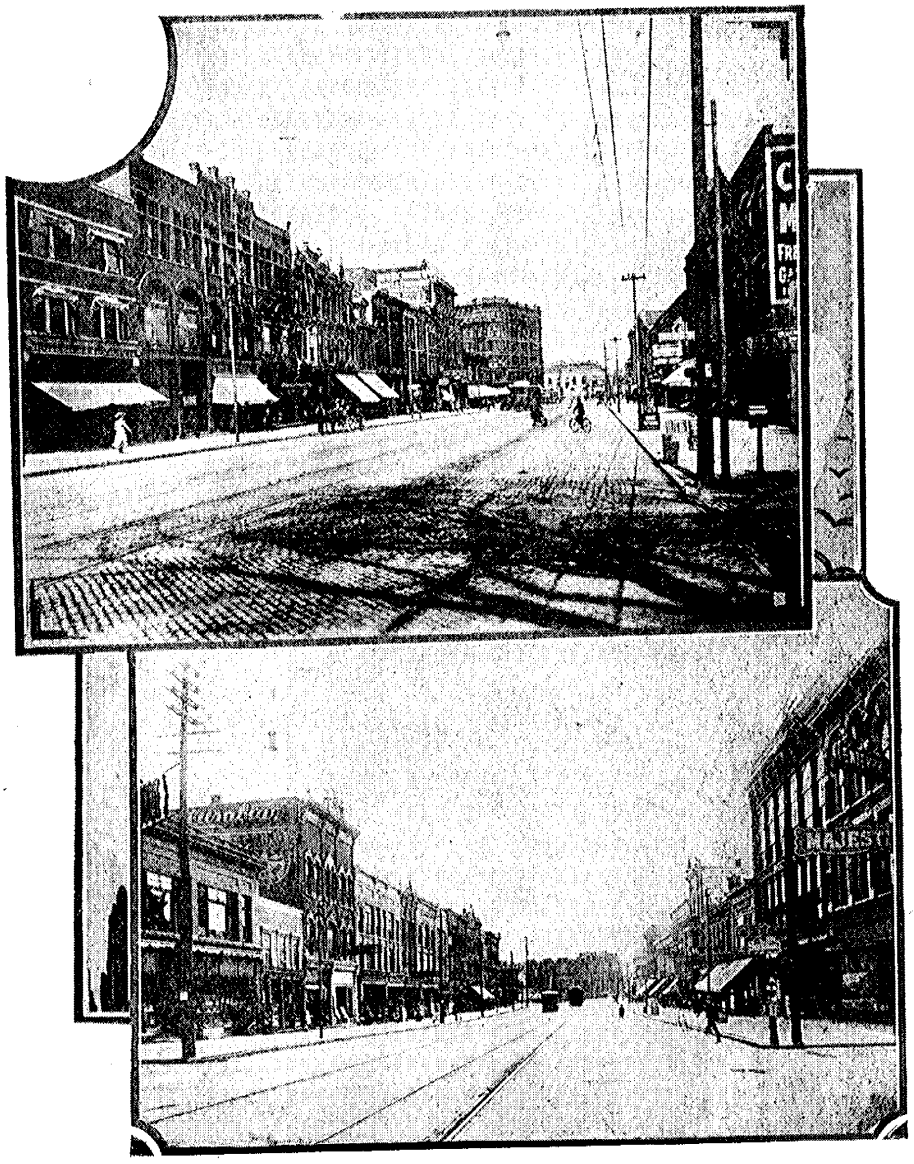

The settlement grew slowly. The panic of 1837 put an end to the land speculation fever, but other saw mills were built. In 1845 John L. Beebe built a mill near the mouth of Black River on the site later occupied by the Howard Mill. In 1848 Wellington Davis built a mill on the South side of Black River at the end of Third Street. This was followed in 1849 by two mills, one on St. Clair River near the end of Griswould street, the other on the Avery farm. So many people were now living in the settlement that the Village of Port Huron was incorporated by Act of the Legislature April 2, 1849.

When the settlement was named in 1837, there were about 500 people, 12 buildings were in course of erection besides a 3-story frame hotel. There were 11 merchants, 3 lawyers, 2 ministers, 3 hotels with 12 saw mills in the settlement and along Black River and Mill Creek.

When the census of 1850 was taken there were 1,584 inhabitants of the village which was bounded on the North by Suffern Street, or the Military Reservation and on the South by Griswold Street.

Entrance to Federal Commercial and Savings Bank

These included 20 merchants, 6 hotelkeepers, 21 classed as lumbermen, 5 doctors, 5 lawyers, 4 ministers, 4 tanners and a considerable number of sailors and some shipbuilders for already Port Huron had begun to justify its name and had built about 20 sailing boats of various sizes.

Supposition that Gen. Beauregard was Killed at Sumter.

50,000 Southern Troops Near Richmond.

A Battle Expected at Alexandria.

GEN. HARNEY ORDERED TO ST. LOUIS, ON DUTY.

[By Montreal Telegraph Line.]

Washington, May 8.

Steam frigate Pawnee sails to-morrow with sealed orders, and the Borussia is being completed rapidly. The steamer Cambridge is discharging heavy columbiads and immense quantities of shells from Fort Monroe. Steamer Columbia arrived with camp equipage and stores for New York regiments. The steamer Roanoke arrived with the Salem Zouaves.

New York, May 9.

A gentleman from Montgomery reports Gen. Beauregard not in Richmond, Charleston, Mobile, Montgomery or Pensacola. A bet of $500 is made here that Beauregard was killed at the bombardment of Sumter. It is certain that no official report of the bombardment has as yet been given.

Washington, May 8.

Official information has been received that the steam revenue cutter Harriet Lane reached Annapolis this morning, bringing up a privateer schooner captured last evening off the Virginia Capes. On being chased the crew of the privateer abandoned the vessel to the mercy of the waves with two exceptions. The name of the vessel had been effaced.

Letters from Virginia Unionists state that one of the reasons for concentrating troops from the Confederate States in Virginia is to intimidate the secession vote at the coming election on the secession ordinance.

Gen. Cameron is so overwhelmed with business that he is availing himself of assistance tendered him by several members of the Cabinet.

There are still some traitors in the war department.

The officially announced determination of the Virginia government to contest the occupation of the right bank of the Potomac opposite Washington, is expected by the military authorities here to result in battle between the federal forces and the rebels in close proximity to the capital.

Gen. Scott is not quite prepared to advance the troops to the other side of the river, owing to the want of cavalry and field artillery and camp equipage; but a strong force will nevertheless cross the river, and assume and fortify a position near Alexandria, as soon as the necessary operations are completed.

The Richmond authorities are evidently kept well informed as to the plans of Gen. Scott. The military movements directed by themselves last week show this.

Frederick, May 8.

The Union meeting yesterday at Court House square was large and enthusiastic. Nothing now can possibly put the State in hostility to the Union. The military repeal bill and the disunion dodge is killed.

Perrysville May 8.

1500 additional troops arrived from Philadelphia this evening. They include the 1st regt. of Penn. artillery, Col. Patterson and Sherman's battery, with their armament and their 150 horses.

The whole forces are in a most complete state of efficiency.

Seven large American flags are now flying at Havre de Grace.

An immense quantity of provisions was sent hence to Washington, to-day.

Trains and boats run between Philadelphia and Washington by way of Annapolis, now run regularly.

Gen. Harney has been ordered to St. Louis on duty.

Gen. Lane was dispatched some days ago to Kansas on important business connected with the emergency. He will have command of large force and will proceed as soon as possible thro' the Indian country to Fort Smith for the purpose of taking that post and all others belonging to the government, in both Wisconsin and Arkansas. Gen. Lane stated before leaving Washington that with 1000 men such as he could bring into the field, he could march successfully into that entire section of the country. 700 men under his command will be composed of the same class that served under Montgomery.

The first thro' passenger train from Baltimore, since the 19th, arrived here this morning. The regular passenger trains and freight trains will commence from this date. Three passen. trains will be run daily each way. An immense freight train, loaded with provisions for our garrison, is in from Baltimore.

Congressman Bouligny from La. arrived here to-day from New Orleans. He states that 1000 soldiers have left that city for Lynchburg Va., and that large bodies of troops from other parts of the Confederate States are moving in the same direction. He says a strong Union sentiment still exists in Mo., but is kept in complete subjection by the secessionists. He travelled for some distance with Senator Johnson who was guarded as a traitor at nearly every station.

The graduation class at West Point arrived here to-night. They will be employed in drilling volunteers.

Washington S.

A northern gentleman from Richmond reports that he was arrested and put under guard for refusing to enlist, but managed to escape. He says large numbers of troops are pouring in from the South. Nearly 10,000 men are employed in manufacturing arms. They have provisions enough for two years and plenty of ammunition, except percussion caps. Several perchs are now in northern cities trying to get a sufficient quantity.

The Richmond Enquirer says, the Legislature of N. C. organized on Wednesday, and a bill calling a convention of the people passed unanimously. An election for delegates is to be held on the 13th, and the convention will assemble on the 20th.

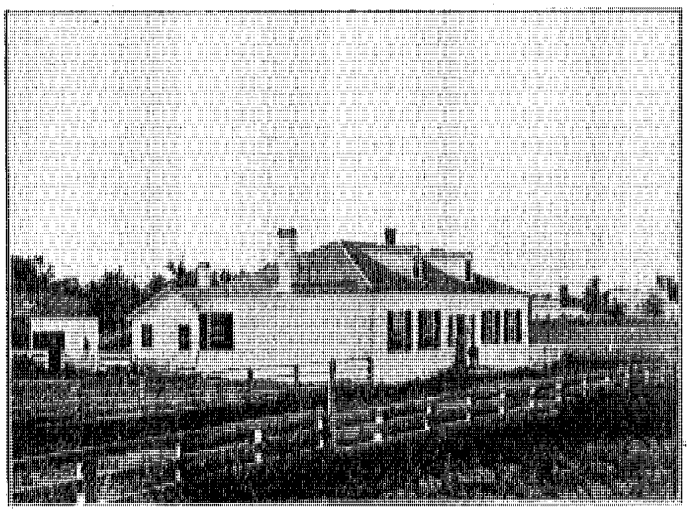

The Herald says the Confederate

On Black River

The village now had 2 schools, one on the North side about where the present jail stands, and one on the South side at the Southeast corner of Court and Seventh Streets. There were three churches, Presbyterian, Episcopal and Methodist. The first two were on the North side and the last on the South side. It also boasted of a newspaper, the Port Huron Observer, so that it possessed most of the then modern improvements.

Fort Gratiot As It Appeared in the Old Days

During the next decade the improvement was more rapid and many things of importance occurred. The population increased to 4,371. The Grand Trunk Railroad was built to Detroit, with the ferry crossing at Point Edward, thus giving for the first time a railroad connection with the outside world. More sawmills were built—the Haynes and Beard, Wells and Howard and Batchelor Mills. These together with the rafting and hailing logs for mills in Detroit and elsewhere, the building of ships—during this period 34 boats were built in Port Huron—all furnished employment to an increasing number of men. Of the boats, two were steam ferries, the Union and the Sarnia, and one the steam propeller, Belle.

One of the Old Time Lumber Mills

This decade also saw the introduction of the first fire engine, the Torrent, worked by man power.

Altogether the community had now become so large and felt its prospects so bright that nothing less than being a city would content it, and by Act of February 4, 1857, it was incorporated as the City of Port Huron, and the city limits were extended south and west. To take care of the increased population, two new churches were built, the Baptist and the Catholic, the latter buying from the Methodists their old church, and moving it to where the Lauth Hotel now stands, and the Methodists building a new church on the present site of the Times-Herald building. The present Taylor school building, formerly called the Washington, was erected in the last year of this decade.

Pine Grove Park

The growth in the next ten years was not so rapid, the population by the censors of 1870 being 5,777. In that year the first City Directory, published by C. Exera Brown, of Adrian, was issued and we find that the city then had 7 churches and 4 ward schools, including the new High School building which was completed in that year.

There were now 12 lawyers but only 6 doctors, while the hotels had increased to 14. It now had a steam fire engine, called Torrent Engine No. 1, while the name of the hand engine had been changed to Huron No. 2. Two private banks, John Miller & Son and John Johnston & Co., were flourishing and one of the most promising businesses, was that of Muir, Livingstone & Co., shipbuilders and dry dock owners. One of the members, Mr. William Livingstone, long an honored resident of Detroit, died during the present year. The city also had a street railway, extending from Pine Street across Military Street bridge, up Huron, Avenue, then along the river bank and through the railroad grounds to the Grand Trunk station, the cars being drawn by horses.

The growth of the city during this decade necessitated the building of a new bridge across Black River, and in the year 1869, the Seventh Street bridge was built.

Another evidence that Port Huron was really a city was the formation in 1870 of the Port Huron Gas Company, and in this year the Port Huron Times took over the Port Huron Press, and then for some years the Times and Port Huron Commercial were active competitors.

The population at the beginning of 1880 was 8,883, but greater proportionate changes took place in the city itself. The County Seat was moved in 1871 from St. Clair to Port Huron. A part of the Military Reserve and Lighthouse Reserve was platted by the Government and sold and in this way a large territorial addition was made to the city. In this decade a very important step was taken by the construction of the City Water Works. The Port Huron and Lake Michigan Railroad, which began construction in 1869, was completed to Flint in 1871, and the Port Huron and Northwestern Railroad was built in 1880 to Harbor Beach from Port Huron.

Among other improvements in this decade was the paving of a few streets with cedar block pavement, a cheap and short lived pavement, but a great improvement over mud streets.

The next decade saw the largest growth up to that time, the population increasing by 4,660 to 13,543. In the first year occurred the great fire of 1881, destroying many lives and much property in Sanilac and Huron counties, and Port Huron, under the leadership of Ezra C. Carleton, played an active and creditable part in furnishing relief to the sufferers. This period saw the completion of the Port Huron and Northwestern Railroad, the building of the Saginaw and Almont branches, and the transformation of the horse car line to the second continuously operated electric line in the United States. Shipbuilding which had been active in the decade of 1870-80 fell off largely, the lumber industry had almost entirely ceased, but new industries came in to take their place.

From this time the growth and development of the city has been continuous. In 1892 the Grand Trunk Tunnel was completed and the station moved to its present location, the street railway was rebuilt and extended and a modern electric light and power system installed. In 1893 the village of Fort Gratiot was incorporated with Port Huron, thus adding considerably to the population and increasing the territorial limits. In 1900 the interurban railway was completed to Marine City, forming a part of the through electric line between Port Huron and Detroit. And thus the end of the 19th century saw the city of Port Huron with a population of 19,158, possessed of all metropolitan conveniences and of religious and educational advantages and an encouraging outlook for future development.

Port Huron Chamber of Commerce 1925

Port Huron is the gateway of the Upper Lakes and on the St. Clair River.

Consider this splendid location on the Great Lakes. Port Huron offers a wonderful opportunity to the manufacturer. We have the greatest export and importation shipping facilities in this country.

Upon the completion of the Great Lakes-to-Ocean project, Port Huron will be the same as an ocean port.

Black River is navigable for several miles—a number of industries already are located on its banks. This river passes through the center of the city, emptying into the St. Clair River.

Situated on the double-tracked main line of the Grand Trunk running between Chicago, Buffalo, Montreal and Portland, Me. On the Pere Marquette main line between the Niagara frontier and the west through Milwaukee and Manitowoc, and being the terminus for various branches of these great transportation systems, our fast through freight service to and from points east, west, north and south is unexcelled.

Port Huron is also served by the Detroit United Railway (electric) to and from Detroit. The White Star line and Port Huron Terminal Co. lake and river steamers also carry a large volume of tonnage to and from Detroit where they connect with the D. & C. Navigation Co. for Cleveland, Buffalo and eastern points.

A system of Automobile and Truck lines to Detroit and the Thumb district gives passenger and freight service.

Port Huron is the concentration center of the Thumb and St. Clair River districts with a population well over 200,000 people.

Port Huron has an up-to-date free camp site for the automobile tourist, located at the Lighthouse Reserve, foot of Lake Huron under supervision of a competent caretaker.

Port Huron has approximately 8 miles of beautiful beaches, municipal bathing and dancing pavilions.

The Sign over your door

It is a good thing, isn't it? You would not think of doing business without it. ¶But it is only seen by those who pass your way. ¶The CITY DIRECTORY is where many people look when they want to find you. You should make it easy for them to find you by putting in the Directory such information as a buyer wants to know. Index your business under all classifications where a customer might look for you. ¶To be properly registered costs less than to be left out. ¶Send for the City Directory Advertising Man and let him explain this to you in detail ::: :::

POULTRY MAKES WEALTH

The man with a 1,000 hens has a better job than any factory worker or politician in St. Clair Co.

200,000 additional baby chicks will bring in one million dollars new money every year.

Fill this territory full of poultry, turkeys, hogs and sheep and watch the wealth grow.

We carry a complete line of all kinds of feeds. Naturally we would like to serve you.

REAL ESTATE LOANS

W. N. HARPER

Some men make their money in business, some in stocks, some by fortune saving at their daily wage, but we submit to you the unquestioned fact that most men have reached a comfortable competence through the ownership of property, home and land which being in a good income, than in any other way. Business requires your sole attention, sacks much sleepless nights and days of worry. Property works by itself for you without your care.

Select it, set it to work, it takes care of itself and will take care of you.

The Sign over your door

It is a good thing, isn't it? You would not think of doing business without it. ¶But it is only seen by those who pass your way. ¶The CITY DIRECTORY is where many people look when they want to find you. You should make it easy for them to find you by putting in the Directory such information as a buyer wants to know. Index your business under all classifications where a customer might look for you. ¶To be properly registered costs less than to be left out. ¶Send for the City Directory Advertising Man and let him explain this to you in detail ::: :::

The Store With a Friendly Atmosphere

218 Huron Avenue Phone 1438

What's In a Name?

If someone asked YOUR idea of a

REAL FRIEND

Whom would you think of FIRST?

Perhaps the one who has DONE the most for you—
Or SOMEONE for whom you have done MUCH.
But when you pause to THINK for a minute,
Is either one a COMPLETE definition?
It seems a REAL FRIEND brings to you about as MUCH as YOU can give HIM
And that's REAL FRIENDSHIP.

We frankly admit that we NEED you—
YOUR friendly co-operation—your SUPPORT.

But in return—

WE offer YOU our very BEST in SERVICE and VALUE
and these are things that YOU need, TOO.

So ALTOGETHER—

We should ALL be the BEST OF FRIENDS, shouldn't we?

LET'S!

Yours in friendship,

THE WINKELMAN CO.

The Sign over your door

It is a good thing, isn't it? You would not think of doing business without it. ¶But it is only seen by those who pass your way. ¶The CITY DIRECTORY is where many people look when they want to find you. You should make it easy for them to find you by putting in the Directory such information as a buyer wants to know. Index your business under all classifications where a customer might look for you. ¶To be properly registered costs less than to be left out. ¶Send for the City Directory Advertising Man and let him explain this to you in detail ::: :::

Standard of the World

Never in all the 23-year story of Cadillac has there been so great a car, and never has an equal amount of money been able to produce such finished perfection as in the new 90-degree Cadillac which is now meeting such a great ovation.
