Growing Children Need Milk For Health, Growth, Strength

MODERN experiments in nutrition have proven beyond shadow of doubt that milk, which contains "Vitamines," is a necessity to the growth of children and the good health of everyone. Vitamines is only obtainable in appreciable quantities in milk, butter, cheese and eggs.

In sections of the country where dairy products are scarce, children have rickets, tuberculosis and other skeletal diseases in great numbers and those that avoid such diseases are stunted in growth and delicate.

Give your children milk—lots of it. Every child should have a pint of milk a day—a quart is better.

Use only pure, pasteurized milk To be sure buy from
